“ Dear Mr. and Mrs. Scott, I was visiting the Rutherford Funeral site looking for some friends that had recently passed when I noticed Abigail's guestbook and realized that we used to be neighbors. I lived with my parents in the brown house at 614 Oxford St across from your home. We moved to the Northwest in 1994. I never knew Abigail but remember seeing her playing outdoors and going on walks with you. What an accomplished young woman she turned out to be. I hardly know what to say. Why does the Lord allow these things to happen? His ways are past finding out. And yet He tells us that "Precious in His sight is the death of His Saints." On behalf of my parents and myself I wish to extend our deepest sympathies for the loss of your daughter. May the Lord in this trial draw you both ever closer to Himself in the days and years to come. Your brother in Christ and former neighbor, Spencer Drown.

“ Mary and family, I'm very sorry for your loss; our hearts grieve with you and your family, and we join our prayers with yours. I never knew Abigail. You and I mostly only shared library instruction time together, though we share a deeper bond in Christ. May you be upheld by His almighty peace & grace.

“ Mr. and Mrs. Scott, As the area director for InterVarsity Christian Fellowship in southern Indiana, including Indiana University, I want to send my deep sympathy for the loss of Abigail. I do remember her at InterVarsity conferences, and I am so glad she was a part of IVCF at Indiana. I hurt with you in your loss and will pray that you know God's great comfort and peace in these days. In Christ, Paul Bertsch

“ Dear Mr. and Mrs. Scott I am the Administrator in the Department of Linguistics at the University of British Columbia, and have watched young scholars come and go over the years. I want you to know that Abigail impressed me with her strong faith and courage for someone so young. She stood for what she believed in and was not afraid to show it to the world. She was always willing to help her fellow students and used to be the first student to come in to help at any event and the last one to leave. We have a little garden in our yard outside our building, and I remember Abigail toiling over it in the hot sun during the summer months of last year and into the fall. Today the garden is full of healthy herbs. She was such a modest young woman for someone who accomplished so much in her short life. As I write this note to you, several of her fellow students came into my room softly crying and telling me how much she meant to them and how much they are going to miss her. As a parent, I have you both in my hearts today and I pray that God will hold you both in the palm of His Hand as you lay your precious daughter to rest. As Christians, we are comforted in the thought that we will see our loved ones on that beautiful shore when our time comes. She was a gift from God that has now been returned to His keeping. God Bless you

“ Mary and Michael- Roger and I were shocked to hear about Abigail's accident and death. You must be devastated. I have memories of many pleasant conversations with Abigail over the years. She was such a kind, bright and talented young woman. The world was made richer by the gifts she gave to others. You remain in our thoughts and prayers.

“ The world is a better place because Abigail M. Scott lived here. The people who crossed paths with her were blessed beyond description. I am honored to have known you, Abigail. Thanks for making my time as an InterVarsity Staff worker at Indiana University an amazingly blessed time. I will never forget all the missions trips and camps that we went to together as well as, the Bible studies and prayer meetings that we attended together. Praise be to God for your amazing spirit. You represented Christ well in everything you did.

“ I send my deepest, heartfelt condolences and prayers for comfort and strength to the dear Scott family. Abigail stands in the presence of her cherished Lord and Savior today, worshiping Him with her voice and clarinet, I am sure! What an incredible loss for us, but Abigail's legacy of compassion and zeal for God's Kingdom will live on in the hearts of all who know and love her. May God comfort you with his indescribable peace.

“ Mary and Michael, Know you are in my prayers. I cannot tell you how sorry I am to hear of Abigail's passing. I remember her so many times helping with WUMC Sunday School and Vacation Bible School, always happily and so willingly, with her shy sweetness. May time and love bring you the peace in knowing she remains with you always. She was a beautiful young woman. Amy Scarfpin

“ I just read about Abigail's accident. I am so stunned by it. One wonders why God would allow this to happen to anyone, especially such a talented young woman who had dedicated her life to serve Him through opening His Word to those who have not had the gospel in their own language. Please know that you are in my thoughts and prayers at this very difficult time.

“ Mary and Michael, there are not enough words to address this tragedy. Having known Abigail since you came to Columbus so many years ago, I will always remember her gentle spirit and strong desire to learn. She was a devoted daughter and a true tribute to both of you and the love you shared with her. There are no answers for this situation. Know that those around you care and offer their full support during this most difficult and devastating time. Sarah T.
