“ Hello Seth,

*Sharon Spalding here, Mother of Alex Spalding.
We remember when you and your Dad were in Indian Guides. Alex has such good memories of that time. Alex lives in Maryland now and is unable to attend your Dad's funeral. But we are thinking of you and yours during this time of sorrow. We were so sorry to hear of his passing.*

“ I remember the time Uncle Barney and his sister, Jessie (my mother), got in an argument -- and yes, he raised his voice! -- because she thought she was weeding and he thought she was trying to destroy his wildflower garden.

Thinking of you, Aunt Lois and the cousins,

Susie

“ Barney Golding. Private and quiet. A self contained man. But inside, so much knowledge. And lucky were those of us who got to tap into that and get swept away in the things you were passionate about.

You were a wonderful grandfather. You spent such valuable time with Ian. Camping, hiking, biking, building bird houses and taming squirrels! I hope Sammy is there with you now.

As for me, you were the father I never had. You taught me EVERYTHING I know about gardening - both flowers and vegetables. You were so patient with me and so giving of your time. I loved walking in your garden and being taught by you. I carry on your passion for growing things. Love, Tracy Swift

“ I have only met you once and Rick's and Elisa's in Arlington, Texas. You were a quiet man but knew you were taking everything in. You have a lot in common with my Dad than also served in the Korean war. To Rick and Elisa, I wish you my condolences and know that you both did the best for your Dad. Having to leave your home in Texas to take care of your Mom and Dad. That must have been so hard for both of you. You and your whole family will be in my thoughts and prayers. RIP Mr. Golding. I know you are in a better place.

George and Lindsey, thinking of you and sending our sympathy to all for the loss of your Dad. From your neighbors Walt and Peanie Smith

I shared not one, but two, major interests/hobbies with Barney: love of canals, and love of nature. I have supposedly stepped in to take Barney's place as the central Ohio Board Member of the Canal Society of Ohio; however, in reality, no one could take Barney's place. His knowledge of canals was incredible. We miss him, and are thinking of Lois, Elisa, and the rest of his family.
