“ It seems like only yesterday that I first saw Brendon as a toddler and watched him grow into a fine young man. I know the years have had their ups and downs, but know that Brendon was truly a ray of sunshine. My heart aches for the family. I will keep you in my thoughts and prayers and I'm always here for you all. My deepest sympathy.

“ Steve and Mary, I used to work with you at Sugar Foods. I never had the opportunity to know your family. I do know how Steve affected my life in business...how much I learned and I wish to thank him for that. How crazy things were in Customer Service for Mary! I want to send my prayers as I can only imagine the sorrow you feel.

“ Dear family of Brendon....we too have a young son who has been battling and struggling with addiction for over a year now....we heard of Brendon's passing from our son who attended meetings with him, and I have been holding you all in prayer since. My heart is aching for you, his parents, especially, and I do understand the pain. I believe God has a special place in heaven for addicts,for they have truly walked a path of immense suffering. I trust that Brendon is finally healed of this horrible disease, resting in the loving arms of Our Most Merciful God. Know that you and your son will forever be in my prayers.

“ Steve and family, I can feel the pain you are feeling right now since it has only been a little over 2 years since I lost my son to a metabolic genetic disorder. “ Our lives seem shattered, our world falls apart and out of the stillness we feel God's arms around us, doing, for now, what we can't do for ourselves. And we find strength for the days ahead and gratitude for the brief time we had. As you celebrate the life of your son please know that you are loved, embraced and in the prayers of many.

“ Without ever meeting your son I feel I know him, as I have a 26 yo who has been in a struggle with substance abuse.I am sure he was very special, as I have read what everyone has written, and I shed tears for you and your family as I write this. I am blessed this day to have my son clean and sober, but the road to recovery is a rocky one. I HATE this disease. It robs our children of their life, and sucks the life out of anyone else it can. I CAN feel your pain, and pray you can find peace in the days to come with the good memories you have of your son. May God bless you now and in all the days to come as you try to deal with the tremendous loss you have suffered.

“ Here is where faith - simple, trusting, yet ever active faith - triumphs over disaster: no matter how dire the need may seem, how pressing the claim, if one will get very still and realize that God in the midst of them is mighty to open the way to freedom from every difficulty, a victory bordering on the miraculous will be demonstrated. May God surround you with His angels of peace and comfort just as Brendon is surrounded today by those very same angels. Rest peacefully Brendon - and thank you for being a blessing in my life!
