“ Not only is this a tribute to Chris' life, but also a tribute to what it means for a family to rally around one of their own. Chris' family which included extended family did just that and was brought together for reasons of hope and stayed together to support each other in this time of sadness. Chris' life meant many different things to so many. His special kind of quiet humor, his continual search for what was good in this world and his compassion for all. These are just a few of the things that I will always remember about Chris. I really miss this man, but I know his spirit lives on in all who had the privilege to know him and to love him.
