“ It's hard to put into words what she meant and the things she did for us, for me most of all. For every challenge she met, she took it by the horns and won. She let nothing stop her. She beat cancer. She beat everything life threw at her, including raising so many of us.

Knowing what I know now, knowing that she is at peace, knowing she gave so much to so many, I know she has found a place where she can be her stubbornly wonderful self without pain. She is my inspiration as a person because she was the strongest, most bullheaded person I know.

She has left an impact on our lives from knowing her that is for the better. She will never be forgotten.

I love you, grandma. I miss you.

“ Connie babysat for me when my babysitter quit with no notice. As a single Mom it was difficult to find someone to trust to watch my children at the last minute. She graciously watched them until I found a permanent care provider. God Bless and keep her. Libby

“ I will forever love Connie. She welcomed me into the family 30 years ago. I don't know why, but I think she was just grateful to get rid of that last kid;). She became a second Mom to me, especially once my own mother passed away. I will always be grateful for the time we had together and I will love her forever. Every time I hear Mark's wit and humor, I will remember Mom and know he inherited this from her. I love you and pray you are at peace and that you are free of pain.

“ I have posted to another social media outlet as well, but I also thought it deserved to be here as well.....

I have messaged Brian and relayed to him what I needed to say. To everyone else....Every person in this world deserves and SHOULD have a person like Connie in their lives at some point. For me, I was lucky enough that she and my mother crossed paths in the perfect time for me to come around. As a child of the late 70's, both of my parents worked (quite hard thank you) to provide for me and later my sister. BUT..... somebody had to watch, care for, look over, correct when need, and nurture while my folks worked. This, I am lucky enough to say, was that person. While I was never born into her large family, she ALWAYS made sue that she told me and anyone that listen that me, my sister, and my parents, were a part of her family. So to my extended brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts and cousins.... I am sorry, and she will be missed, yes, but NEVER forgotten.

It's been almost 6 years since you have been gone. So much has changed and so much has happened. Rowan is here now, and I know you can see her, but I wish that you could have met her. She's rambunctious and wild and wonderful. She absolutely adores her brothers. Gavin has turned into a bright young man, and is so much more than that little brown boy you thought was adorable. He is a spectacular athlete and an amazing brother to Rowan. He does on her like you would. Your little petunia, Hunter, has grown into an amazing young man. He is caring, kind, loving, intelligent and he actually has to shave! His love for you has not lessened at all. Please continue to guide him on the right path. He adores his sister and cares for her deeply. I finally bought a house! Although you are not here, the door is always open for you. Kerry reminds me of you so much, with her warm heart and how she makes sure we're all fed. How she loves each of us in her own way, but still won't say her her favorite is. But I know. :) You are missed every single day. I cannot believe you're not here, even after all this time. I know we'll see each other again, when it's time, so please be ready for a long hug and lots of tears. I will continue to try and do my best and take care of everyone. I will continue to try and build wonderful memories, like you did for us. I miss you, I love you and I will never forget you. Brian Bird loves the Meme and Meme loves the Brian Bird. Big bunches and teeny tiny eyeball sugar bits.
