“ I was new in Athens Ohio, 1997 and met Daleen at a basket party where I was a complete stranger to everyone. Before long she chatted with me and invited me to visit a local Quilt Guild. Over 20+ years we shared friendship not only quilting related adventures such as shopping and retreats but dinners and the challenges of moving to new communities. We never lost touch and we were always able to pick up connections as if we just spoke the day before. I was honored to help serve at one of Daleen and Bob's anniversary celebrations many years ago. We shared many interests including grandchildren along the way. I will remember Daleen as a kind, smart, friendly, caring, thoughtful, generous, talented and usually patient soul. We said we were like "almost sisters". She will be so missed.

I left out the most important description of Daleen -- courageous, hopeful. She was willing to endure the transplant procedure for time with her loved ones.

Daleen and I became closer friends during the devastating loss of her daughter. We just understood each other. She endured so much after the transplant and after fighting for a year I was just so hopeful that things would turn around for her and she would make it. I will always miss her. What a great person.
