“ Aunt Delores, you not only shared your home with me on many occasions, you gave me 3 wonderful cousins and pocketful of childhood memories! Some of the best, I might add. When visiting your house on Brice road (Reynoldsburg, Ohio) you artfully and skillfully corralled the small band of rambunctious cousins and siblings to share in an art project contrived by you, cooked us a meal and listened to our childhood prattling about our adventurous outings to the creek behind the Brice Road residence. You were very level headed (I suppose parenting three precocious boys helped honed those skills) smart, quick witted and gifted artist. I loved your dimpled smile! My heart is linked to yours and I will miss you. Laura Weisheimer (Pennybacker)

“ Delores (my sister) believed everyone had art talent, and always praised a person's efforts. She was very accepting of others and truly non-judgemental. We were proud when people asked if we were sisters, (especially when they asked who was the oldest)...as she always maintained a youthful appearance. We knew each other's strengths and flaws, and maintained a lifelong loving relationship. I will miss her.
