“ It is with deep sympathy and sadness that I send this message to the family of my longtime friend and accountant, Gerry Kesel. I just learned of his passing today when I called his office. We met many years ago teaching as adjunct faculty at Franklin University. Gerry was one of the kindest, smartest, professional, humorous, and humble individuals I have ever met. He always made time for his clients, always had an uplifting and encouraging word, and was generous and helpful.

They say that the good are too soon gone from this life and those words apply to Gerry. I will treasure knowing him, working with him, and doing business with him. May God comfort you, heal your sorrow, and cause you to delight in the loving and lasting memories of one of God's special people.

*Sincerely,
Mildred Johnson*
