“ I would like to offer my condolences for the loss of your loved one. Did you know the Bible assures us: "Jehovah is near to those that are broken at heart; and those who are crushed in spirit he saves." (Psalms 34:18) Yes, more than anything else, a relationship with God can help you cope with the death of someone you love. How? All practical suggestions offered thus far have been based on or in harmony with God's Word, the Bible. Applying them can help you cope. In addition, do not underestimate the value of prayer. The Bible urges us: "Throw your burdens upon Jehovah himself, and he himself will sustain you." (Psalm 55:22) If talking out your feelings with a sympathetic friend can help, how much more will pouring out your heart to "the God of all comfort" help you-2 Corinthians 1:3

“ I am sorry for your loss and I recently found out that Bob had sent my family flowers for my grandma when she died. My only regret is that I didn't get to tell him thanks, but I'm sure he knows now. I feel like I lost part of my family too in a way, he's like the silly, happy go lucky and sometimes serious uncle I never had. So I will miss Bob, he was a nice person to know and I enjoyed working with him these past three and a half years. My thoughts and prayers are with the Cecil family and again I am so sorry for your loss.
