“ Hey Jordy,

Been thinking about you a lot lately. JM got married in August, a few days after your birthday. Kylie, JM and I talked about you the whole weekend, how unfair it was that you weren't there in person, but how we all knew you were there in spirit.

I think about you a lot Jordan. I love you always.

“ I may have the wrong person, but I'm fairly certain that I'm about to perform a funeral for this girl at Arlington National Cemetery. I tried to learn more information about her military service, but all I found was "Air Force analyst." Can someone help me out with any more information like her rank, time in service, deployments? It's nice to know who we're honoring and why. Thanks

“ Jordan,

One of my fondest memories of you was going to the Dublin Irish festival to watch you dance. I was always in awe of the grace and beauty you displayed each time you performed. I remember that beautiful smile that could light up a room. This world has lost a great one too early but Jesus has been blessed with an amazing angel.

Mr. and Mrs. Faber, Jill, and Kasey,

I am very sorry for your loss and you are in our prayers each and everyday. May god bless you and may you find refuge with him.

Cory came to visit New York last weekend, it was his first time here and I could feel you everywhere. You are woven so deeply into the fabric of our friendship it's impossible for you not to be. Anyway, I just wanted to let you know that I miss you, love you and always will.*

“ It's that time of year when i have to get my flower garden ready to plant flowers. It always reminds me of the time you came to my old apartment to help me pull weeds so we could plant flowers. We split the little patch of weed infested garden right down the middle. You pulled weeds on the right. I did the left. We put our flowers in and stood back high-fiving each other for a job well done. Two weeks later... i went to water my garden... the left side (my side) was flourishing with beautiful flowers with not a weed in sight. The right side (your side) was so full of weeds that you couldn't even make out a single flower petal. Lol!!! I forgot to tell you to dig up the roots of the weeds!! You had just snapped off the stems so they all grew back with a vengeance!!! Needless to say... a green thumb... you did not have! Gotta love my little Jordy!

I hope you now know peace. I just can't believe it came and found you instead of the other way around. You are always loved. You are missed sorely. Common language is inadequate to convey how much this tears away at my soul.

“ Jordie,

When I moved to Columbus, I was lonely and confused. I didn't know anyone, but you could tell and immediately befriended me. That is the kind of person you were. You made High School pure magic. It didn't matter if we were debating politics, watching hours of Sex & The City or teasing each other about who was cuter Sidney Crosby vs Henrik Lundqvist, it was always fun. You always made me laugh, you always pushed me to better myself, you always kept me ready for anything and I will miss you more than you can know.

I wish we had kept in touch better after High School– although it was so lovely to see you when I was in Ohio last year. I wish we had arranged that New York trip we always talked about. I wish a lot of things, but mostly that you were still with us down here.

You are so beautiful inside and out and I know your brilliant soul and vibrant spirit will always surround us. Thank you for being an amazing friend. Thank you for being a loving person and Thank you for being you.

I love you.

And to Jordan's Family,

Although I only met you a few times, many years ago, I am so sorry for your loss and your pain. Your daughter and sister will forever be beloved by all those who knew her. You are all in my thoughts & prayers. And I am sending you lots of light & love.

There is nothing more beautiful than the love of a child - remember the love, remember the smiles, remember sharing a beautiful life, and eventually the grief will decrease enough where you will always smile at her memory.

Gail and Al,

Our hearts go out to you and your family on the loss of your young daughter. It is always tragic to see a young person and fellow veteran with so much promise and opportunity to have their life cut short. We share with you the loss of a child, which will always be there, just remember all the good things, the times she made you laugh and cry, her dreams, the stories she told you, and her hugs.
