“ To the family and friends of Joshua, you have my deepest sympathy in your loss. Death is truly difficult especially when a young person dies with their whole life ahead of them. Romans 6:7 says, "For the one who has died has been acquitted from his sin." How is that? Verse 23 of that same chapter says, "For the wages sin pays is death, but the gift God gives is everlasting life by Christ Jesus our Lord." May you rely on God's promises to get you through this difficult period.

“ To the family of Mr Joshu Landers may the love of many comfort you, I am so sorry for your loss. During times of loss many come to your door. Some with dishes of food to share, other a hug, a touch or to hold a hand with tears of sorrow. This comfort reveals the love they share for the gift of life. We share our sorrow out of love. We are wonderfully created Gen1

“ I'm so grateful to have been loved by Josh and honored to have returned that love back to him. He was an incredible man that I will carry with me always. I shared so much of my young life with him, he really taught me how to love myself through the love he offered so freely. He helped me become the person I am now and I couldn't be more thankful for that.

I knew him as a kind and a humble person... Always a pleasure working with him. I don't recall when he ever said "No" to attend an issue or help out... Josh - You will be missed at work. RIP brother!

My thoughts and prayers for the family.
