Judy worked for the Worthington Police Department as a Crossing guard at Colonial Hills Elementary from 1987 to 2013. She loved being the watchful eye over the children at this school and volunteered for many school functions outside of her work duties. She had been at this job for so long that kids she crossed in her later years at this job, those kids' parents were also crossed by her when those parents went to Colonial Hills Elementary. In her later years on the job, her dog Princess was loved by the kids as they walked by the dog laying near crosswalk edge. Princess would walk the halls of the school with the children as an unofficial mascot of the school. She was loved by many people in the Colonial Hills neighborhood.

Judy was also an Eastern Star member of the Worthington Chapter going all the way back to when her Father and Mother were part of the chapter. She had many enjoyable years of being part of the Eastern Star and was still an active member in the Eastern Star till her death.

She then had her son C.J. Swain and his family attending the church with her in which they became members of the church. With her husband, son

C.J., daughter-in law Jill, and her grandchildren she would shape our lives to be followers of Christ and his love. She was a very active member in the church and spent many years of teaching people about Jesus Christ our Savior.

Judy loved spending time with her grandchildren and being at/or part of their school functions and outside activities.
