

Kathryn Mary Wanous

December 28, 2013

Kay Wanous, age 93, of Dublin, Ohio, died peacefully on Saturday, December 28, 2013, just two weeks shy of her 94th birthday. She was born in Cherokee, Kansas, January 13, 1920, to Italian immigrants, Margaret and Felix Magnetti. She graduated from Kansas State University with a degree in home economics. She married Bud Wanous in 1950, and they lived together in Diablo, California until they relocated to Cincinnati, Ohio in 1966. For a number of years, they retired in Palm Harbor, Florida, and then they moved to Columbus, Ohio, to be near their daughter's family.

Before marriage, Kay loved her life as a stewardess with United Airlines. She also taught typing and business education. Kay was an avid golfer and achieved Life Master in bridge. She was a volunteer with the Cincinnati Art Museum. Kay enjoyed travelling and saw much of the world with Bud. She took many cruises with her husband, daughter and grandchildren and celebrated 50 years of marriage on a cruise to Alaska.

Her only daughter, Deborah Simmons of Longmont, Colorado, married to son-in-law Wayne Simmons, CEO of Sundrop Fuels, survives Kay. Granddaughter Carolyn Simmons, sophomore at University of Colorado, Boulder, and grandson Chris Simmons, an engineering major at Ohio State University also survive her.

Rutherford Funeral Home of Powell, 450 W. Olentangy St., Powell OH, assisted the family with arrangements. Private family services were held 1:00 p.m. Monday, December 30, 2013 at the funeral home and the family will also hold private burial services in Colorado. “ We lived beside your parents in Palm Harbor and will always remember them as kind and helpful. During one of my mothers visits, they invited her to play bridge with them. They were very lovely.
