“ I am Ida daughter of Tommy, I find this difficult to write, But do wish I didn't need to. I missed out on alot of teachings and memories from my grandmother, and I can never have that chance to gain from her wisdom again. I am glad that even in her passing I have learned a last lesson... Family is forever and no matter what rifts there may be, you are always living in an hour glass and every day that passes is another grain of sand dropped through the glass and once it is gone, it is gone. So make amends and get to know your family, because you don't want to lose that link to your past. Please know you have all my condolences

“ Mom is resting now and no more pain. I remember Mom as being the strong one in the family; holding all of us together in bad times and good times. I want to remember all those good times. She made sure that we had family reunions once a year. Mom was a hard worker. We love you, Mom. Carol
