“ My sister, my heart. I was there at your life's start. Cheering in the background hardly able to contain myself. I couldn't wait to hold you in my arms. Through the years I watched you walk and grow; into a beautiful person inside and out. Your determination helped you experience life's joys as well as overcome MANY CHALLENGES. I was always proud and in the background cheering you on. I love you dearly. My heart is in pieces. I know I have to keep pushing forward as you did! So I will with your beautiful smile in sight lighting my way. Remembering you and missing you each and every day. (I love you Nicole). Love always, Shelley

“ When a friend dies they sre not truly forgotten....especially when touched by the lives of others,without asking fom heart to heart,in such a loving, caring and unique fashion.Though departed in the psysical,but remains in the minds gate with us forever,regardless of their untimely fate.But is found and lives in the heart of all of us simply because we love em' the reciepiant of our trust.Until i see God and He makes it all clear.Aleast I know He's always near.We will always remember you, as we wipe away our tears.
