“ "Glorious Reunion." May sunshine take away the clouds from your sky. May angels comfort and wipe away your tears. May Jesus caress you as you cry. May God calm and whisper in your ears. The sweet, sweet Holy Spirit's lullaby that each person needs to hear. It put's a heart at ease, a soul at rest. Most of all it gives us strength during that test, The hard time that has come along, I pray for perfect tranquility and a peaceful song. Remember it won't be long, we'll meet over yonder on the other side, a glorious reunion, the rolling tide, beautiful Spirit, Angels clapping and singing in celebration, Saints of old, What elation, Jesus Christ's embrace, No more teardrops on my face. No more pain. We take a walk down memory lane. Only to forget the pain we had. City of Gold awaits us there, Loving God who really does care. I say with love, Keep your eyes on our Lord up above. Love you, Jesus.

“ A World Only I Can See There are many sights and sounds, In a place I want to be, Many wonderful things abound, In a world only I can see. Sunlight's filtered beauty beams, Through forest canopy leaves, Whose songs quiet whispering seems, To harmonize 'pon each warm breeze. No pains nor tears nor harsh words here, No times for sorrow ever be, With never a cause for fear, In a world only I can see. No raucous sound my ears assail, I feel safe, secure ever here, Where harmony and peace prevail, With bright aura and vista clear. As I stroll my life in its time, I dream the place I want to be, Valleys to roam and hills to climb, In a world only I can see. R.E. Quelette 3/25/2009
