“ My memories of Paula go back many years but remember the great friend and neighbor she was. My heart is with Paula's family during their time of loss. Rob an Kim, you have grown to be great children whom I am sure your mother was and is proud of. Bless you during this time.

"When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me, I want no rites in a gloom-filled room. Why cry for a soul set free! Miss me a little -- but not too long and not with your head bowed low. Remember the love that we once shared. Miss Me -- but Let Me Go! For this is a journey we all must take and each must go alone. It's all in a part of the Master's plan and a step on the road to home. When you are lonely and sick at heart, go to the friends we know and bury your sorrow in doing good deeds. Miss Me -- But Let Me Go."

“ So many times, people talk about nightmare in-laws, particularly conflict between wives and mother-in-laws. I have always been puzzled by those stories because I had such amazing luck to have Paula as my mother-in-law. She always treated me as if I was one of her children. Whenever Rob would ask her what we could bring for a holiday meal or family gathering at her house, she would always say, "Just bring Charlene." We always joked about how I was her favorite child, but that's not true at all. She loved Rob and Kim so much, and was proud of them both. I am going to miss her so much.
