“ As a young lawyer in Columbus many years ago, I had the good fortune to practice with Bob. He taught me lessons about the law, and life, that have served me well, but my favorite memory does not involve the law. When I had been working for Bob for about a year, my son was born. I had not been able to find a blue blanket for his trip home from the hospital. The night before I was to bring my wife and the baby home, it was cold and heavy snow had been falling all evening. I was surprised when my doorbell rang, and couldn't imagine who was at my door on such a night. It was Bob, and he held a Lazarus bag. In the bag was a blue baby blanket. Bob was a boss, a mentor, a partner, and a friend. I am grateful for having known him.

I worked for/with Bob for about 10 years. I will always remember him as kind and generous. He could talk to anybody no matter what their age or situation or station in life. He had a great sense of humor and a laugh I hope to never forget. He was a GOOD attorney and always fought hard for his clients. He was a gentleman to other attorneys and practiced the Law with the respect it deserved. I miss him.
