“ Mr. Smith was first my boss, then my friend. I remember my interview with him, he asked me if he hired me would I mind bringing him his coffee every morning. I said, no I would not. He said, good, because I don't drink coffee I drink hot chocolate. I also remember how proud he always was, that his shoes and suits were older than me. He was a sweet and kind man, who remembered me on every birthday, our wedding anniversary and every christmas. No other person in my life did, but he did. I will miss him.

“ Mitzi, I am sorry for your loss. I re-met your dad when my father was at Wesley Glen for rehab. He seemed to be enjoying life there and talked about you, so that is how I remember him. When my mother was buried at Walnut Grove, my sister remarked that Mom was still with her friends, neighbors, and our friends parents. So your father isn't among strangers either. I hope that comforts you. -- Susan
