“ Sara, my heart has yet another crack and I am so sad to hear of Phil’s passing. I truly regret not having the opportunity to see him recently and tell him how much I valued our friendship! You may have known Kodi passed away 2 years ago after a long battle with breast cancer. There is a sense of relief knowing she is no longer suffering but it pales in comparison to the overwhelming pain of loss. This is difficult for someone to fully comprehend who has not experienced the loss of their “soulmate”. There are no words to express the empathy I feel for you. I can offer that the pain lessens over time, you realize the world continues to go on and you become more thankful for the family and friends still in your life. I look forward to seeing Phil in the afterlife. I’m certain Heaven can use his architectural talents and sense of space expertise. May peace be with you!!!

Sincerely,
Terry Asman

“ Hi Sara: I had so much communication with Phil over the years. What an absolutely incredible individual! My hubby and I even had the opportunity to golf with him and Andy once. Phil told us about Entrada which has been one of our most favorite golf trips ever because of him. My heart is so incredibly sad. I'm saying prayers for you and your family, Sue, Diamond Cellar

“ Great memories of my favorite uncle that I will hang onto forever. I'll miss our weekly visits and discussions about sports and many other topics, but I won't miss him beating me on the golf course. The funny stories from our golf matches will always be fresh in my mind and put a smile on my face. RIP Uncle Phil.

20 plus years of golf with “ Guadalupe” never a bad word about anyone unless he playing against you. I love him like a dad and fought him like a brother. Many of the best times of my life because of him. Rest well my friend, I'm sure it's ok to throw clubs in heaven

So sorry for your loss Sara. Our hearts are deeply saddened by Phil's passing. He was truly one of the good guys. I already miss him, and will always cherish the many fond memories I have of our times together. The world was a better place with Phil in it. He was an excellent mentor, teacher and friend to everyone he worked with. I am lucky to have known him.
